LITERARY SOCIETY OF HIGH SCHOOL

FRED DAUOST ENCOURAGES STUDENTS TO TRY FOR ELKS' SCHOLARSHIP

The Literary society of the high school held an interesting meeting yesterday afternoon and the program contained some very amusing features. Miss Louise Dilworth accompanied George Money in a vocal solo. Miss Jewett favored the society with a "short and sweet" selection, which she termed the "Oetological Novel." For brevity it was truly the soul of wit and her hearers certainly greeted her dissertation with well merited applause. The sophomores are studying Julius Caesar and gave an interpretation of it which was much appreciated. Louretta Walsh and Gertrude Rippingham contributed a duet. Freda Dauost was welcomed by her old school friends. She spoke to them on the merits of a university education and encouraged the girls and boys of Tonopah high school to put forth their best efforts to capture the scholarship given by the Elks, to which body too much praise could not be given for their kindness in this respect.

BRAVERY OF CHAPLAINS ON THE FIELD

Three chaplains gave up their lives during the battle of Champagne; the Abbe Thinet struck by a shell while digging out men buried by the explosion of a mine; the Abbe Perrot and the Abbe Pouch, who fell, the former while looking after a fallen soldier and the latter while giving first aid to a general of brigade wounded on the field of battle.

A chaplain from the region of Verdun gives the following graphic recital of an experience: "We celebrated Easter under the shrapnel, within 300 yards of the German trenches, and the Credo was saluted by a fusillade. Our trenches had been converted into green bowers with flowers and ivy garlands. On Good Friday fourteen stations had been marked with crosses in the communicating trench for the solemn procession. At half past two just as I had confessed my last penitent, a bullet hit him in the neck. The blood spurted out just as the last words of absolution were uttered. I gave him first aid, and then he turned his brave eyes toward me and murmured: 'You have cared for the body, now look after the soul.' I offered up a prayer that went with his departing soul, while the blood flowed upon my cross and casque. It was in that condition that I proceeded on the road to the cross, and at the twelfth station I offered the pure vermillion blood of that brave son of France to Christ and with all my heart I said: 'Our Lord, that blood was generously shed.'"

Bishop Ruch, as chaplain of a section of stretcher-bearers of the 4th corps, was decorated with the Legion of Honor and the war cross on the field of battle, and cited in orders as follows: "Charles Ruch, Bishop, effaced himself in spite of his eminent dignity and gave proofs in a modest post of untiring activity and devotion, notably in the latest combats, visiting the first line trenches, seeking for wounded on the line of fire, and watching at night in exposed field hospitals. His calm courage has acquired for him the affection of everyone."

O. T. JOHNSON, Jr., A. P. Johnson, Jr., William Gordon and Frank Otto of the Johnnie mine in the southern end of Nye county arrived this morning by auto making an outing tour. They will visit Lake Tahoe and other fishing streams.

NO MONTHLY LIMIT ON POSTAL SAVINGS

TOTAL DEPOSIT ALSO RAISED FROM $500 TO $1000 FOR EACH PERSON

Larger postal savings deposits will now be accepted at the post office. This is made possible by an important amendment to the postal savings act just approved by President Wilson. A postal savings depositor may now have an account amounting to $1,000 upon which interest will be paid. Formerly $500 was the maximum amount he could have to his credit. This enlargement of postal savings facilities will be very gratifying to thousands of depositors who have already reached the old $500 limit and are anxious to entrust more of their savings to Uncle Sam. Another feature of the amendment that will avoid further embarrassment to the public and to postal officials in the doing away with the limit on the amount that could be accepted from a depositor monthly. Under the old law only $100 could be deposited in a calendar month. The amendment abolishes this restriction. While the postal savings system had already proved a signal success as is shown by the fact that more than half-a-million depositors have over eighty million dollars standing to their credit, still it has fallen short of meeting the full demands of the public because of the restrictions which have now been eliminated.

INDUSTRIAL STRIFE WILL FOLLOW WAR

ing opposition to the forces that make for war.

"Before the present war, the working people of the several countries now in conflict sincerely gave international pledges that they would not fight each other. I confess that I banked strongly upon these pledges, but in an hour of crisis, brought about by forces over which working men had little control, their pledges were shattered by the hurried ultimatum of kaiser and king, of president and czar. Secret diplomacy and arbitrary autocracy lifted the battle standards, raised the cry that the integrity of the fatherland was at stake, and placed the working men of all the nations in a position where adherence to their pledges and to the larger interests of humanity would have branded them as traitors. Under the urgency of the situation, with autocracy and militarism restoring to their accustomed stage tricks for arousing patriotic emotions, instinct prevailed over reason and the laboring men of the nations rushed into the paths that had been marked out by the diplomatic and ruling classes.

"But when the smoke of this conflict is cleared, with renewed energy the laboring men of the world will begin to lay anew the foundations for an international peace that will safeguard and minister to the interests of justice, democracy, and larger opportunity for all.

"But for even a more immediate reason, America's workers are vitally interested in the kind of settlement that shall come at the end of this war and in its effect upon industrial conditions in the United States. For it is obvious that at the end of this war labor may have to enter into great struggles to get and hold its just dues. These struggles may become more acute in the United States should an industrial reaction ensue after the close of the war."

Night life comes on swiftly when it gets really started. Night in Washington is a beautiful girl drawing a black velvet, jewel bespangled cloak over white shoulders. The streets are lighted with dull bronze, rather low lamps, artistically perfect lamps that hold dull white, glowing globes. The lamps are very close together. They are the pearls that the girl winds about her throat and in her dusky hair.

The White House stands out, glimmering boldly against the black of the foliage, its lighted windows dimmed with tightly drawn curtains. What of national portent may not have happened behind those same curtained windows? Perhaps fear has grappled with bravery behind the shelter of the friendly walls; perhaps hatred and love have clashed. Perhaps cowards have become strong, and surely strong men have wept. Characters and homes and nations have been molded behind those friendly blinds.—Margaret E. Sangster, Jr., in Christian Herald.

No One to Do It
"You say you have three small children. Can't you find work?"
The man with the three days' beard and the ragged trousers wiped away a tear.
"Alas, mum," he said, "it wouldn't be any good. They ain't old enough to work yet."

AMUSEMENTS

BUTLER THEATER

There will be a double bill on the program at the Butler this evening. The two-reel railroad drama, "The Girl and the Game," featuring Helen Holmes, in the greatest picture of its kind ever attempted.

The other features is a Selig Big-Four production entitled, "No Greater Love," introducing Miss Regina Bader, the wonderful emotional actress, in the role of Sadunah the dancer. Written by Wm. Le Queux. A life drama of today, being the study of a woman's heart. Tomorrow, "Inbad Gets Into Deep Water," a Paramount-Bray Cartoon comedy, which is sure to please everyone, and "The Secret Sin," a Lasky production, with America's leading photoplay star—Blanche Sweet in the leading role. It is an extraordinary expose of the opium traffic, and a valuable addition to the United States propaganda against the nefarious traffic in drugs. Miss Sweet appears in a dual role as twin sisters, revealing remarkable photography and a series of unusual and baffling scenes.
